

Rose Wagner Performing Arts Center

The Rose Wagner Performing Arts Center is Salt Lake County's most versatile venues. With its three theatres, studio spaces, permanent art installations, and rotating art gallery, The Rose is a vital creation and performance hub for Salt Lake's emerging and established artists and performing arts companies. It also provides the intimacy of a small space with the staging, audio, and lighting production values of larger venues.

Opened in 1997, The Rose is home to modern dance companies Ririe Woodbury Dance Company, Repertory Dance Theatre, and SB Dance; and the Gina Bachauer International Piano Foundation. Local theatre companies Plan-B Theatre Company, Pygmalion Theatre Company and Wasatch Theatre Company also make their home at The Rose.

The Rose serves as an official Sundance Film Festival venue each January. Its state-of-the-art digital projection and surround sound system makes The Rose an excellent film venue.

Events at The Rose range from the traditional to the avant garde, including the Pilobolus dance company, musician Beck, and U.S. Naturalization ceremonies. The venue is also a popular location for corporate meetings and weddings.
